“Dignity is as essential to human life as water, food, and oxygen.”
— Laura Hillenbrand, Unbroken

Likely, you have seen the word dignity in our communications numerous times. After all, it lies at the heart of our mission—helping seniors in the community age in their homes, living with dignity and purpose! And yet, in how many of those instances have you reflected on the complexities of the word dignity?

For Senior Services, dignity relates to basic humanity and respect. To us, preserving dignity means understanding and responding to the unique needs of each person we serve. It means advocating for and with older adults in our community and creating opportunities for growth and connection. The one-on-one interactions of our staff and volunteers with the older adults we serve are grounded in the understanding that everyone is deserving of being recognized as an individual, listened to, and treated with courtesy and compassion. We are honored to see these ideals play out in each meal delivery, phone call for assistance, in-home interaction, and moment of human connection we provide.

Providing services that help our community’s older adults remain in their own homes for as long as their health and circumstances allow is just one way of honoring the dignity of each person we serve. Being at home affords older adults the opportunity to retain a certain amount of independence and self-determination. Their ability to make everyday decisions about their lives—when to get up in the morning, when to eat, when to take a nap, when and how to engage with their community—is important to their maintaining a sense of self and preserving their dignity. After all, isn’t that what we all want as we age?

In the months and years ahead, there will be many opportunities for each of us to combat ageism and preserve dignity through service to older adults. We know that our contributors and volunteers will continue to respond to this call as our community continues to age with dignity.

On behalf of the more than 2,700 seniors who receive direct care from Senior Services and the thousands more who call for assistance and information, we thank you for your support and involvement in helping protect and preserve the dignity of older adults who are often isolated, living with frailty, and who need you the most.

FROM THE SENIOR SERVICES FOUNDATION BOARD CHAIR

Established in 2000, the Senior Services Foundation, a supporting organization of Senior Services, Inc., has had steady growth, and we encourage you to help this trend continue in the 2019-2020 fiscal year. By endowing a Meals-on-Wheels route or a scholarship for tuition at the Williams Adult Day Center, for example, or by establishing a fund in honor or in memory of a loved one or making a personal gift to an already established fund, you can make sure that compassionate care will continue to be available for Forsyth County’s older adults.

The many caring families and individuals whose named funds make up the foundation are already having a lasting impact and transforming the lives of seniors in Forsyth County, as are those who have made significant outright gifts or remembered Senior Services in their wills. Recognizing how important it is for Senior Services to have permanent funds invested to further our mission, these loyal supporters have developed a solid funding base for Senior Services to access according to a prescribed formula as an annual income source and to build on for tomorrow, and we are very grateful.

A list of the existing named funds is included in this report, along with a roster of Senior Legacy members, individuals who have made a bequest to Senior Services or have let us know that they have named Senior Services as a beneficiary in their wills.

We hope you’ll consider creating a personal legacy, too—one that will help sustain the vital services we provide well into the future.

Sincerely,

Jim Hardison

In 2008 Senior Services inaugurated a new giving-level recognition. Named for the Duncan Lewis sculpture “Second Blooming,” which was commissioned by the Senior Services Board of Directors to honor the generosity and leadership of A. Tab Williams, Jr., and his family, the Second Blooming Society recognizes individuals, corporations and foundations whose combined annual fund, capital campaign and planned gifts to Senior Services since 1974 total $10,000 or more.

The symbol appears following donor entries to signify those without whose generosity Senior Services might not exist, which would have meant a diminished quality of life for many of our community’s seniors—past, present and future.

SECOND BLOOMING SOCIETY MEMBER

FROM THE CHIEF DEVELOPMENT OFFICER

I’m adding my voice to that of Jim Hardison on the previous page. Indeed, there is no greater legacy than one that helps meet the basic needs of older adults in our community, and one of the best ways to ensure that our services are available in the future is to include Senior Services in your future planning. There are many choices available for use in making a planned gift: bequests, annuities, securities, life insurance, and retirement plan assets, to name a few. For more information about ways you can help Senior Services through a planned gift, please contact me or another member of the development team.

Of course, as chief development officer, I am focused on supporting our programs not only in the future but also in the here and now. Demands for our services are ever increasing, so our fundraising goal is going up to meet the need. At the same time, the tax-law changes that went into effect in 2018—which included the doubling of the standard deduction and leaving many individuals no longer able to itemize and include their charitable donations as itemized deductions—may be a tax-favorable way to make your philanthropic gifts. If this applies to you, did you know that by having your charitable contribution paid from your IRA account directly as a Qualified Charitable Distribution (QCD) to Senior Services, the amount donated is not included in your taxable income? Having less taxable income means having less tax payable and under certain circumstances might even result in your dropping to a lower tax bracket. Having less taxable income may also have a favorable impact on the amount of tax taken from Social Security income and the amount of the following year’s Medicare premiums. This is not intended to serve as tax advice, so please consult your own tax advisor, to determine whether this would be a useful strategy.

As always, your generosity makes possible all that we do in the community, and you have our sincere appreciation.

Our wonderful Meals-on-Wheels volunteers deliver nutritious meals and provide important safety checks, ensuring the well-being of the people on their delivery routes. Yet perhaps the most important part of what they do is provide moments of human connection. It is often said that while the meal nourishes the body, it is the visit that nourishes the soul.
FROM THE ANNUAL FUND CHAIR

As chair of the 2019-20 Annual Fund, I personally want to thank those generous donors whose contributions helped provide vital assistance to Forsyth County’s seniors in need last year. In 2018 alone, Senior Services was able to deliver direct help to more than 2,700 older adults, enabling them to remain in their homes, living with dignity and purpose. Together, our donations made this possible, providing nutritious meals, vital in-home personal care, informed answers to aging-related questions, all-important resource referrals, specialized adult day care programming, customized care coordination and much-needed caregiver respite.

Here are a few statistics that quantify just some of last year’s accomplishments. With help from our volunteers, we did the following:

- Served nearly 290,000 meals;
- Assisted with more than 62,500 baths;
- Provided 16,956 case management hours;
- Delivered 1,642 bags of groceries to individuals most in need; and
- Performed 951 new enrollee assessments and 3,475 participant reassessments.

And there are even more highlights listed on the back inside cover of this report. What is especially important to note, though, is that the work we do produces measurable positive outcomes. The Aging with Purpose pilot initiative’s results show increased in quality of life and food security, along with decreases in social isolation and depression. They also document fewer falls and emergency room visits, as well as a reduction in medication usage. With results like these, we know that what we are doing is effective, and we know that it must continue.

Standing on the strong values of this organization—dignity, purpose, compassion and caring—and knowing that the senior adult population in Forsyth County is growing rapidly, our mission for the future is clear: we must do more. I hope that you will join me in continuing the important work of serving area seniors in need. Too many seniors are alone, hungry and struggling to meet basic needs. Your gift will change their lives!

With gratitude,

help they receive and always say how they appreciate the meals. It is a two-way blessing.”

Senior Services volunteers often describe their experiences delivering meals in ways similar to the thoughts expressed by one volunteer, who said, “People who receive the meals are a blessing to me as I serve them. They look forward to the help they receive and always say how they appreciate the meals. It is a two-way blessing.”

Providing home-delivered art lessons is just one of the innovative antidotes Senior Services is applying to address loneliness. Art student Ida Mae, who is 101 years old, finds that when she paints, she no longer feels her cancer pain.
The Williams Center's Kindermusik program is being celebrated with the list of contributors in the given document. Kindermusik classes continue to bring joy to the Williams Center participants, as both old and young join together in an extraordinary intergenerational musical experience. The success of the Williams Center's program, which has been shown to have positive effects on both the children and older adults participating, has led Kindermusik to expand its reach, with this award-winning program beginning to be implemented in other settings across the country.
Morning goodbyes and hellos at the Williams Center are often emotional, and caregivers are grateful to have a safe place for their loved ones, where the staff is welcoming and compassionate and the activities are engaging. One caregiver said, "Since my mother attends three days a week, I know that at least for these three days she is getting some mental and physical stimulation. This gives me peace of mind while I am at work."
Bobby King, who definitely has a heart for older adults, has been volunteering with Meals-on-Wheels for more than 12 years. “It feels good to know that I’m doing something to help make someone’s life a little bit better,” he said. His philosophy of life? “It’s not rocket science. Love your neighbor and be kind to each other. People are just people, and we all have to have human contact.”

Senior Services relies on the generous financial support of area businesses to continue serving the community’s older adults. Also vital is their volunteer support, and we are grateful for both. (Left) A community volunteer who helped deliver the whimsical Thanksgiving gift bags made by Reynolds American volunteers for Meals-on-Wheels recipients reported, “When I handed out these “turkey bags” on my route yesterday, the smiles on the recipients’ faces were priceless.” (Right) BB&T’s Lighthouse Project volunteers returned to the Williams Adult Day Center again in 2018 to offer their assistance. Not only did they provide hours of hard work to beautify the courtyard, they also donated a new table with benches, plants, and much, much more!
ELDER CARE CHOICES

Since its inception in 1995, Elder Care Choices (ECC) has grown and expanded as employers realized the dramatic impact that caregiving can have on the workplace. ECC, now in its 24th year, currently provides services to employees of 20 client companies, representing more than 20,000 local, regional and national employees.

When your employer adds Elder Care Choices (ECC) to your benefit package, you have an amazing resource to tap should you need assistance securing information on aging-related issues or referral assistance for a parent or loved one, even though they may live hundreds of miles away. ECC helps contracting employers support their employees who are struggling to balance the demands of both work and family.

20 Years Contributing New or increased gift
Living-at-Home is a Medicaid waiver program administered locally through Senior Services. It provides a coordinated network of support services that enable adults living with frailty or disability to remain at home or to transition from a facility and return home. Individuals enrolled in Living-at-Home require a level of care that would be appropriate for a skilled nursing facility, so the services contracted must accommodate that level of care—but in the home. Case managers like Brandy provide close, ongoing communication and assistance to be sure that needs are being met and appropriate resources are being provided.

The 2018 Art Show & Sale Benefiting Meals-on-Wheels brought a throng of art lovers, a wide variety of original art and hundreds of happy customers like Kathy Carr (far left, p. 22). With the generous support of sponsors, patrons and more than 50 talented area artists including Gail Roberts (above), the one-day fundraiser was able to help provide more than 26,430 meals for homebound seniors. One of our more than 14,000 Facebook followers summed it up, writing, “It’s wonderful to be able to find a treasure and to BE a treasure to someone in the process.”

Senior Services’ Help Line is ready with the answers. The program’s Aging Resource counselors provide callers—including seniors, caregivers and professionals—with information on topics concerned with aging, such as in-home service, housing options, community resources and long-term planning. They also help link callers with appropriate services.
At a Williams Center program held during the week-long celebration of National Adult Day Services Week in September, ten staff members having more than ten years of service and nine participants who had been attending the center for more than ten years received special certificates of recognition.

Receiving a meal sometimes means more than anyone could imagine. One meal recipient related, “I have a problem of dropping things, and with the Meals-on-Wheels service, I don’t have to cook. That way I don’t drop something hot. I thank God for all of you that have a part of this service. At 94 nothing comes easy. Also, let me say you have the best who...”
Since Meals-on-Wheels volunteers are not allowed—for food safety reasons—to leave meals when no one answers the door, a senior in need who does not hear the knock on the door may end up having to go without. The Doorbell Derby was launched to raise funds to provide doorbells to Meals-on-Wheels participants identified as having hearing loss, a non-working doorbell or no doorbell at all. Concerned donors provided the dollars, and volunteers have been doing the installations. To date, 169 wireless doorbells—with adjustable volumes—have been installed, with 5 to go!

Approximately 68 percent of Senior Services’ Meals-on-Wheels recipients are women, and the average age of all recipients is 74. The Institute on Aging reports that nearly a third of the older adults living outside hospitals or nursing homes live alone, and among this population, women are twice as likely to live alone.

They’ve got rhythm! Music is included as part of each day’s programming at the Williams Center. It has therapeutic properties, as the center’s Music & Memory program has demonstrated. More than that, though, it speaks to the center’s participants, touching a part of the brain that is not affected by Alzheimer’s disease, and inspires singing, dancing and all sorts of fun!

For most older adults, home is where the heart is, and the Senior Services Home Care program is currently helping 151 individuals remain at home. There is a waiting list of 43, and the average length of time people spend on the waiting list exceeds 365 days.
A 2015 Time article reported that “loneliness that becomes persistent causes accelerated aging with multiple health consequences.” Senior Services’ Connections program, which grew out of the Aging with Purpose pilot initiative, is addressing loneliness by arranging pet therapy visits, telephone reassurance calls, and one-on-one in-home art instruction, just to name a few of the activities it has initiated.
MEMORIALS

(Above and below) Two of the many community groups supporting Christmas in July were the Old Salem Sertoma Club and the ACEY Group of the Women’s Fund of Winston-Salem, who delivered a bounty of wish list items, sharing their mid-summer holiday spirit and helping surprise and delight Senior Services’ program participants.
MEMORIALS

Making Christmas in July and Remember in December actually happen—in addition to Presenting Sponsor Piedmont Federal—were the caring members of the community who caught the holiday spirit and brought smiles to the faces of the seniors on the receiving end of their generosity.

SENIOR SERVICES ANNUAL REPORT 2018 37
The language of flowers is love, and the Gifts from Gran’s Garden core volunteers and participating garden clubs convey that message twice monthly all year round with the nosegays and arrangements that are delivered to program participants by volunteers and staff.
Volunteers have been the backbone of the Meals-on-Wheels program since its inception in 1962.
In the tenth grade at Paisley IB Magnet School, Isabel Wall, daughter of the vice president of Senior Services’ Living-at-Home program, is dedicated to making a difference in the lives of older adults in Forsyth County! Using her artistic talent and as part of a school project, she designed note cards to be sold in packages of eight, with proceeds going to Senior Services. “I’ve grown up watching all these people take care of older adults and seeing how important it is,” Isabel said. “I hope my project will raise money for Meals-on-Wheels, for Home Care and to help older adults stay living at home.”

Shana Hurt, elected to the Senior Services Board of Directors in 2018, has been a longtime supporter and a Meals-on-Wheels volunteer. She joined hundreds of other Senior Services volunteers at the spring 2018 luncheon in their honor.
First responders were first in our hearts during Community Champions Week, part of the month-long celebration of March for Meals, established to draw attention across the country to the importance of home-delivered meal programs. These heroes greeted and thanked volunteers and assisted them in picking up and packing up their meals.

Senior Services’ volunteers are such special people. They don’t want praise, recognition or thanks. All they want is to be of service.
MEALS-ON-WHEELS VOLUNTEERS

“I look forward to seeing the volunteers each day. They are really caring people and would go the last mile for me,” said one meal recipient. It would be a safe bet to say that this thought is a universal one among Senior Services’ Meals-on-Wheels recipients.”
Senior Lunch provides area seniors four locations in Forsyth County where they can gather not just to share a meal but also to socialize with friends, learn something new, be creative, exercise and just plain have fun!

Forsyth Country Day students volunteered at Senior Services taking on jobs like cleaning the Meals-on-Wheels carts and washing the Senior Services van. Vice President of Nutrition Linda Kearsley said, “These kids were so awesome. They also made colorful uplifting placemats that will be delivered to some of our meal recipients. They will make lots of seniors smile.”

Also awesome were the city of Winston-Salem employees who, as part of their Martin Luther King, Jr., Day of Service, assisted Senior Services with the several jobs directed their way, including making sure an important mailing got to the post office in a timely fashion.
There’s never a dull moment at the Williams Adult Day Center, and compassionate volunteers help support a busy staff. Their gift of caring resonates with the participants.

Rooted in Love, a recent addition to Aging with Purpose’s outreach programming, increases participants’ social contact when volunteers deliver a new plant to them every two weeks, providing an added sense of purpose to their daily routines: the responsibility of caring for the plant.

Friendly pet visits, which are coordinated through the Connections program—another aspect of the Aging with Purpose initiative—have proved to delight not only the senior being visited but also the four-legged guests, who are frequently at risk of getting spoiled with all the attention they receive.

Aging with Purpose artist volunteers Carla Sharpe (far left) and Bill Gramley (far right) have been seeing creativity blossom since they’ve been giving art lessons in the homes of program participants.

Love Notes

Your service helps keep my father where he wants to be—at home!! Eternally grateful for Senior Services!

My knees hurt, and I can’t stand. I feel like a kid at Christmas looking for my meals.

Gives me a break—sometimes a caregiver can get overwhelmed with everyday duties and forget about their own health. Getting this break helps me a lot.

Thank God for the Williams Center.

This service has allowed me to have a better quality of life. May God bless all of you who are showing the care and compassion to people like me.

She feels like her life still has value.

Without Senior Services I would not be able to have my mother at home with me. I’m also so thankful for this organization and its staff. You guys are awesome.

Some days the volunteer is the only person I see. Brightens up my day.

My husband’s doctor was very pleased after observing the improvements made during his “two-day” schedule at WADC. NOW, per doctor’s prescribed orders, he attends the full “five-day” weekly schedule!
